

THE Bloomfield Record

A WEEKLY JOURNAL.

S. MORRIS HULIN, Proprietor.

Office 29 Broad Street.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1897.

The Election.

Election day was remarkably quiet in Bloomfield and Glen Ridge. The votes cast for Kuebler, Republican, and Seales, Democrat, and for Skinner, Republican, and Hamilton, Democrat, are given in the table below:

County Clerk.	Register.	R.	D.	R.	D.
Ward 1.	236	141	296	139
" 2.	252	74	218	104
" 3.	306	175	290	183
Total.	894	390	794	426
Glen Ridge.	119	79	148	58

For the Assembly, Charles W. Powers was scratched from many of the Republican tickets in both Bloomfield and Glen Ridge, running behind in every ward. He received 24,770 votes in the County, losing the third lowest candidate on the Republican ticket. Frederick N. Moffat, his Democratic opponent, received 17,504 votes.

William O. Kuebler, the Republican nominee, was elected County Clerk, receiving 24,551 votes to 18,331 for Timothy H. Seales.

For Register of Deeds Alfred E. Skinner ran ahead of his ticket, defeating his Democratic opponent, the vote being Skinner 24,544, Hamilton 17,822.

The Assembly nominees of both parties were cut and pasted from top to bottom of the tickets. The Republican Assemblymen were all elected.

The Prohibition ticket polled 826 votes and the Socialist polled better, receiving 496 votes.

Elsewhere in the State, the Democrats have recovered much of their lost ground.

Every county but one went for "McKinley and prosperity" last year, but on Tuesday there was a reaction, showing that the Democrats are returning to their old love. The Republican Legislative majority will be reduced from 67 to 21—a great gain in so short a time. In the next session the Democrats will at least have something to say, and will make as much of their opportunity as possible.

The result in the Republican stronghold of Passaic County was one of the election surprises. There the Democrats came out winners, electing the Sheriff and other officers.

Soldiers and the Soldiers' Home.

Department Commander Hayter has published a letter in the press in which he says:

"The wide publicity, the papers have given to my Circular with most courtesy and assiduously bringing about a very thorough and searching investigation of the affairs of the Soldiers' Home at Kearny, has led me to say that I have not made any attack, nor has the Council of Administration (which is the governing body, so to speak, of the G. A. R.) want to say further that there is not a single member of the Council of Administration but what entertains the highest opinion of the members of the Board of Managers. Their probity is unimpeachable and their standing in the community so high as to place them beyond the reach of any shaft I could hurl at them, if I would."

The Department Commander goes on to quote extensively from the proceedings of the encampment at Atlantic City to show that "a duty was imposed upon the department" that at a meeting of the Council of Administration held in Jersey City Oct. 22d:

"A motion being made that a circular be issued urging upon comrades to take action it was unanimously adopted. The circular was issued, but was intended for distribution among comrades only, being sent to the Adjutant of each Post in the Department. I have read and re-read the circular and fail to see wherein it betrays of the nature of an attack upon any one. Had it not by some means got into the hands of the press it would have been, to my mind, perfectly harmless. Could I have known that an engine of turmoil would have been made of it and how it would be misconstrued, distorted and twisted, I am free to say it would not have gone forth. I am free from bias, and naught have I set down in malice."

As one of the newspapers that has criticized the circular, the Record would say that whether Mr. Hayter personally, or the Council of Administration collectively are responsible for the circular, is of small consequence. What G. A. R. members especially are complaining about and what they resent is that the department should be made to stand up for profane and unbecoming language used to or in the presence of visitors to the Soldiers' Home by inmates of the Home. It may be possible that the old soldier who was expelled did not do that and was unjustly treated; but it is no distortion of the language of the circular to say that it is "monstrous" and "vicious" in its upholding of that sort of free speech, and that it is calculated to cause trouble, unless withdrawn.

TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE.

A regular meeting of the Township Committee was held on Monday night. All members were present. A large number of bills were received and ordered paid.

Among the bills was one for $18 for nine days' work performed by William Baldwin at the corner of Montgomery and Orchard Streets.

Mr. Lawrence said that there had been considerable criticism in regard to this matter. Several taxpayers complained that Mr. Baldwin was employed to hold down L. Daskin's shop. The Chairman of the Sewer Committee claimed that this was money well spent, and to prevent a lawsuit for damage.

Mr. Baldwin's duty was to inform the drivers of wagons that the street was closed, and to change their course through Orchard Street, to protect the interests of the Township.

The bill of Thomas H. Decker amounting to $7, incurred by Counsel, brought Mr. Halfpenny to his feet. "Mr. Chairman," he said, "I do not know anything about this bill."

Mr. Stout replied that the bill was approved by Associate Counsel, Mr. Colpe.

Mr. Fisher recommended that the contract for grading Spruce Street be awarded to John Doherty of Newark at his bid of 23 cents per cubic yard. This motion was adopted.

The petition for the extension of the sewer system on Harrison Street to the Belleville line was refused on the ground that none of the property owners intended to connect with it at the present time.

Mr. Lawrence stated that he desired it unwise to advertise for any new work at this time.

Mrs. Barbara Meinhardt received a deed for thirty years for property purchased at a tax sale, situated on Plane Street.

Mr. Lawrence made a motion that the sewer system be extended on Madison Avenue only as far as Clinton Street.

This question of eliminating certain streets from the sewer system was referred to the Legal Committee.

Two large trees located on the sidewalk in the line of improvements on Washington Street, between Bloomfield Avenue and Franklin Street, were ordered removed.

Mr. Albion called attention to a depression in the road on Bloomfield Avenue at Cooper Street.

Mr. Fisher had noticed this while driving on the Avenue, and promised to repair the damage at once.

Mr. Haskell recommended that a hydrant be located on Newark Avenue at Baldwin Place, which was adopted.

The question of the right of H. J. Ashley to fill up a ditch on Washington Avenue was referred to the Legal Committee.

The House Committee were instructed to provide proper facilities for the legal books and papers in the possession of Clerk Johnson.

While the Committee was in session J. H. Swayze, Associate Counsel of the township, called up from Newark on the telephone. He told Chairman Stout that Judge Child, of the Circuit Court, had decided the suit of the estate of Alexander C. Marr, Collector, in favor of the township.

The executors sued to recover $1,300, a certain percentage on the disbursements of school moneys, which was claimed, the law allowed Collector Marr. The township refused payment on the ground that the salary of the Collector had been fixed at $1,200, in lieu of all fees. The case will probably be appealed.

The Franchise Committee was asked to have the Consolidated Traction Company stop cars at the south corner of Washington Avenue, and also at the crossing north of the Suburban tracks instead of at the crossing opposite the bank.

Committee Albion moved that any policeman who should elector be dismissed from the force. "If they are not on duty," said Mr. Fisher, "you can't stop them."

"On or off duty," Mr. Albion declared, "it is not proper."

The motion was not put to a vote. The application for a flagstone sidewalk on the south side of Washington Street from Thomas Street to the railroad was granted, with a crosswalk at Mechanic Street.

Mr. Fisher recommended that the surplus dirt from the sewer trench on Montgomery Street be put in Berkeley Avenue.

Mr. Haskell called attention to the relocation of the crosswalk at Broad and Maple Streets made necessary on account of the new railroad bridge. A majority of the residents of Maple Street prefer to have this crosswalk remain where it is. There is a walk across Maple Street at this point.

Mrs. Bennett-Francis will resume medical instruction on or about Sept. 6th. For terms and further particulars call or address 55 Race St. Bloomfield, N. J.

The Tender Passion.

I had a colored cook who was on the whole a very good servant. She had been "educated" in the public schools and could write by putting a copy book before her and picking out letter by letter those she wanted to use. This took a good deal of time, but she was sensible enough to choose her times so the practice was not as objectionable as with most of them, whose passion for letter writing is so great that it is indulged in at all times regardless of duty. One evening every one had gone out and Letty was left to lock the house and go home. I came home first and found on the sidewalk an immense paper bag. I knew at once it must have been forgotten by Letty, who lived at a distance, and so thrust my hand in to see if there was anything in it to spoil. Fruit and cakes were in it, but my hand encountered a box such as jewelers sell fine rings in. I opened it, of course, to know if it contained any valuables. A portion of her hair had been soaked in perfume, green and braided fine and tight to the length it could be stretched, tied with blue ribbon and coiled ring shape. It rested on a piece of paper, on which was written, "My dearest, I send you a lock of my hair and let not any one else lay the weight of their finger upon it." I read no further in the love note, shut and put back the box, but that "lock of hair" was an interesting proof how much alike human nature is in "all sorts and conditions of men," and women too.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Patent Cow For Hunters.

A Nebraska man has invented a patent cow for hunters. The invention presents the perfect outward semblance of a most peaceable and amiable cow, but the fore legs and hind legs are in fact the two pairs of legs of two men. They are armed with guns and have a plentiful supply of ammunition. The patent cow moves along like an ordinary harmless animal until it is in the midst of a lot of birds, when it comes open and the two men inside blaze away. Formed in the sides of the frame at suitable points, are windows or openings protected by outward swinging flap blinds, and through these windows the sportsman in the rear may observe the flying portion, which includes the head and neck of the animal, so that by simply releasing a small catch, the sportsman of the framework this releases the swinging front portion, which immediately drops by gravity and thus leaves the sportsman free.—Boston Transcript.

At Sea in a Coffin.

It was the French assassin Lupi who escaped to sea from Cayenne in a coffin. He managed to get some nails, tar and cotton, and one dark night he got into the coffin shed. He selected a fine, stanch and seaworthy coffin, fastened the lid in order to turn it into a cask, leaving a cockpit sufficient to enable him to crawl in. He calked all the joints as well as he could, and when this work was finished he made a pair of paddles out of two planks. Then he brought out his craft with great precautions. Without much difficulty he reached the water's edge. Silently and slowly he proceeded in the hope of reaching either Venezuela or British Guiana, 150 nautical miles distant. Fortunately or unfortunately for Lupi the steamer Abeille, returning from the Antilles, off Paramaribo, picked him up, half drowned and almost in a fainting condition, and a few hours later he was in irons in his cell.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Poker to the Postoffice.

"Give me three aces," said a sporting man at the stamp window of the postoffice, just before noon, a couple of days ago. The stamp clerk passed out three cent stamps. "Now deal me a pair of deuces," said the clerk passed out the 2 cent stamps. "I see you understand the game," said the man to the clerk. "Ante up." The man placed 7 cents on the shelf. "My pot," said the clerk as he scooped it in. The men smiled as they parted.—New York Commercial.

Nutrition For Consumption.

The following is recommended as food that would be nutritious for one suffering from chronic consumption, unless ordinary foods had become repugnant: One hard boiled egg, which when perfectly cold is pressed through a sieve so that the albumen and hard yolk may be thoroughly triturated; then add to this by thorough stirring two heaping tablespoonsful of perfectly roasted peanuts which have been ground or chopped very fine. This will make two intermediate meals, say one at 11 a. m. and one at 4 p. m. A cracker or glass of hot milk will help the ingestion and secure perfect nutrition.—Hygienic Gazette.

His Own Master.

"We have come," said the chairman of the committee, "to ask you to take this nomination. This city needs a man like you—strong, brave, self made, self reliant, owing no master, fearing no man."

The great man was visibly touched. "I'll not deny," said he, "that your kind words have shaken my resolution. I trust that if elected I may justify your confidence and prove that I am indeed strong, brave, self reliant, owing no master and fear no man. Suppose you wait a minute till I see if my wife will let me accept?"—Strand Magazine.

An east end London clergyman who sent out invitations to a jubilee banquet among the poor of his parish and received 70 acceptances on announcing that he would have a hundred of his guests and was besides grieved by the newspapers.
